

WITH 20 YEARS EXPERIENCE AND A TRACK RECORD OF SUCCESS... SIGMAPRO IS A LEADING PROVIDER OF TRAINING AND CONSULTING IN SIX SIGMA, LEAN & CHANGE MANAGEMENT

Improving process effectiveness and efficiency and finding solutions to help you add value are our key business drivers.

WHAT MAKES AN EXCELLENT CONSULTING COMPANY?

Training and consulting is a highly competitive industry and with such a variety of choice it can sometimes be daunting to choose a provider to move forward with.

It helps to think of your choice of consulting partner as an investment decision for your business. At SigmaPro we think that the decision comes down to two key factors: proven experience and return on investment. Here are seven great reasons for choosing SigmaPro.

1. PROVEN EXPERIENCE

We have accumulated over 100 years of experience in Lean, Six Sigma and Business Improvement. Our people have been personally involved in many successful improvement programmes since the 1980's.

The vast experience of our trainers helps us to provide real solutions to real problems, and provide training that is alive with practical examples.

We have successfully trained over 10,000 people worldwide at all levels for many of the world's top companies.

2. COMMITMENT

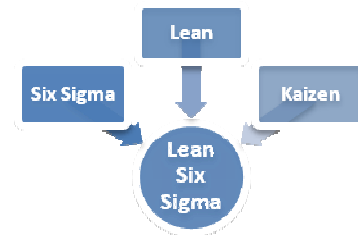

We enjoy talking to you. We want to discuss your situation and your requirements, and will find the best possible training and consulting package for your particular business situation.

We are 100 per cent committed to providing you with the support, tools and methods necessary to stay ahead of the competition and maximise the effectiveness of your operations.

Quite simply, we put your needs first.

3. INTEGRATED APPROACH

Our programmes are designed by practitioners for practitioners. We care about the theory but practical application is paramount. To ensure we come up with a solution that meets your precise needs, we integrate the best of Lean, Six Sigma and other improvement methods into our approach.

First we carefully evaluate your current situation, identify and agree the needs with you, then develop and implement a programme that addresses those needs in the most cost effective way.

Ultimately we put you in a position where you can sustain the improvement without our continuous help.

4. PEOPLE

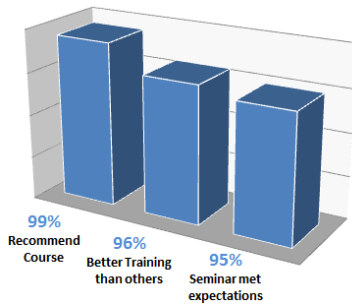

We carefully select all our people. Our trainers and consultants have excellent academic skills and in depth practical experience to provide you with unrivalled expertise.

Our commitment to the ongoing development of our people, together with the continuous review of the quality of our programmes, ensures we can provide the best possible service.

5. TRACK RECORD OF SUCCESS

Over recent years we have helped many companies to increase revenues, improve customer satisfaction, enhance workforce productivity, reduce capital spend and improve lead times.

Our clients include global players and many ambitious smaller companies, and span sectors from finance, through manufacturing to service and health care.

We evaluate the results of our programmes through regular client and delegate surveys.

Any investment decision should be considered carefully, with SigmaPro you can be sure that not only will your investment help you today, it will still be yielding results long after the initial training and deployment has been completed. Talk to SigmaPro today to make an investment in the future of your organisation

6. INNOVATION

We continuously invest into the development of our proprietary training programmes. Our curriculum is based on detailed research into what truly works, and so creates value that is beyond the standard offerings used by many of our cheaper competitors.

Our portfolio of services incorporates interactive training, e-learning, energising simulations and leading edge learning methods to ensure clear understanding for our training students, enabling them to successfully put theory into practice.

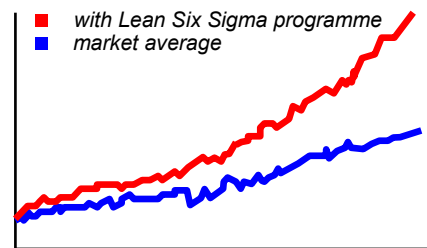

Please review our web site to learn more about SigmaPro and our innovative approach to business improvement.

7. RETURN ON INVESTMENT (ROI)

The creation of sustainable value for your organisation is the key principle of our work. Our approach to business improvement will enable you to achieve breakthrough results and sustainable value.

Industry surveys show that the average Lean Six Sigma project is worth at least £100,000 in an organisation and we will enable you to unlock this potential. Many of our clients quote examples with far higher returns.

The ultimate return on investment for your business improvement initiative will be related to the decision on your consulting provider.
